Supporting Parenting After Traumatic Events

Abigail Gewirtz, Ph.D., LP

Registration:*	11:30 – 11:45 a.m.	Location:	MPA Office (The Harrington Company)
Program:	11:45 a.m. – 12:45 p.m.		Large Conference Room
CE certificate distribution:	12:45 – 1 p.m.		4248 Park Glen Road Minneapolis, MN 55416

About the Program:

This program qualifies for 1.0 continuing education credit.

This lunch and learn will review what is known about how parenting is affected by traumatic experiences and how to strengthen parenting with evidence-based practice. Dr. Gewirtz will discuss a program of prevention and intervention research focused on modifying parent training interventions for trauma-affected families, including those affected by war (as either a service member or a civilian), political violence, refugee and immigration experiences, homelessness and domestic violence. There will be opportunities for dialogue among program participants.

Participants will be able to:

1. Describe key empirical literature regarding trauma and parenting and key principles for intervening with parents and families after traumatic events.

About the Presenter:

Abigail Gewirtz, Ph.D., LP, holds a B.S., Psychology, University College London; M.A., Vocational Counseling Psychology, Tel Aviv University; and Ph.D., Clinical Psychology, Columbia University. She is the John and Nancy Lindahl Leadership Professor in the Department of Family Social Science and the Institute of Child Development, and director of the Institute for Translational Research in Children's Mental Health at the University of Minnesota. Her research focuses on the development, effectiveness testing, and implementation of targeted prevention programs that promote child resilience among highly stressed families including those affected by military deployment and war.
